This lovingly restored home has great appeal as it is just a short stroll to town and close to the school. The original house was built in 1895 as the St Andrews Church Manse and retains all the features of that era; the high ceilings, cornices and ceiling roses. Each of original bedrooms has a walk-in robe and the main bedroom also has an ensuite. Blending the old with the new an extension was added to encompass a large dining and family room which then leads down to the Tasmanian Oak kitchen which includes a gas cooktop, dishwasher, walk-in pantry and good bench space.

An undercover entertainment area at the rear of the property is perfect for a family BBQ while the front and side verandahs are in keeping with a traditional verandah houses of this time have for the home owner to enjoy the spacious garden. There is also plenty of shedding and an automated single garage at the rear. All exteriors have
